THE CONTRIBUTION OF MUSLIM MEDICAL SCIENTISTS
DURING THE BRITISH PERIOD IN INDIA-A BIBLIOGRAPHY

M. Ata-ur-Rahim (Dept. of Dentistry, Riyad University, Riyad, Saudi Arabia.)

37. Sinton, J.A. and Majid, S.A. 1935. The dispersion of Anopheline Larvae by the flow of streams and the effect of Larvicides in preventing this. RMSI; 5:3-17.
64. Wahed, M. Abdul. 1924. Role of vitamins in health and disease. IMR; 24:47-50.
74. Wali, M.A. 1900. Note on the Plague in India during the region of the Emperor Aurangzeb. PASB; May, 83-85.
82. Wilson, H.E.C., Ahmad, B. and Mullick, D.N. 1936-37. The Ash, Calcium and Phosphorus content of some common Bengali foodstuffs. IJMR; 24:797-800.
(Concluded)